The syllabus was approved by the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences 2018-02-07, and is valid from the Autumn semester 2018 at Karlstad University.

Prerequisites

English 1-90 ECTS cr or equivalent

Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course, students should be able to

1. give an account of and analyse how climate change is represented and problematised in English-language fiction,
2. reflect on climate fiction as a literary genre, in reference to literary history and theory developments and informed by secondary material relevant to studying climate change in the humanities,
3. use English with stylistic awareness, effective structure and convincing analysis and argumentation.

Content

Climate change is introduced as a humanities research field through a focus on the representation of climate change in English-language fiction. Literary texts are studied concurrently with selected examples of the theoretical development of climate change in the humanities, and the course also deals with and problematises climate fiction as a genre.
