Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course, students should be able to:

1. search for African popular literature,
2. describe and analyse thematic and formal elements of African popular literature,
3. give an account of and evaluate theories of African popular literature,

4. summarise and evaluate secondary material of relevance to African popular literature, and
5. express themselves well in English in terms of style and structure and present convincing analyses.

Content

The course deals with modern African literature in English, from the postcolonial novel of the 1960s onwards. The first part of the course provides an outline of early postcolonial literature and relevant literary criticism. The main focus, however, is popular literature which has been written primarily for African readers and how literary works in this category can be understood in relation to historical, economic, and societal events and changes from the 1980s onwards. The course offers students the opportunity to find out about contemporary academic debates on African popular literature, talk to African writers and cultural workers, and independently search for, study, and theorise relevant material available online.

Examination

Learning outcomes 1-5 are assessed on the basis of individual written assignments. Learning outcomes 1-2 are also assessed on the basis of oral assignments.

If students have a decision from Karlstad University entitling them to Targeted Study Support due to a documented disability, the examiner has the right to give such students an adapted examination or to examine them in a different manner.

Grades

One of the grades Distinction (VG), Pass (G), or Fail (U) is awarded in the examination of the course.

Quality Assurance

Follow-up relating to learning conditions and goal-fulfilment takes place both during and upon completion of the course in order to ensure continuous improvement. Course evaluation is partly based on student views and experiences obtained in accordance with current regulations and partly on other data and documentation. Students will be informed of the result of the evaluation and of any measures to be taken.

Course Certificate

A course certificate will be provided upon request.
