Content

The course covers project management and evaluation in relation to projects as a working method, with examples from various types of health promotion projects. The course also highlights the importance of evaluating public health work and its ethical aspects.

Reading List

See separate document.

Examination

Assessment is based on seminars, an individual written hand-in assignment, and a group project presented in a final seminar at the university.

If students have a decision from Karlstad University entitling them to Targeted Study Support due to a documented disability, the examiner has the right to give such students an adapted examination or to examine them in a different manner.

Grades

One of the grades Distinction (VG), Pass (G), or Fail (U) is awarded in the examination of the course.

Quality Assurance

Follow-up relating to learning conditions and goal-fulfilment takes place both during and upon completion of the course in order to ensure continuous improvement. Course evaluation is partly based on student views and experiences obtained in accordance with current regulations and partly on other data and documentation. Students will be informed of the result of the evaluation and of any measures to be taken.

Course Certificate

A course certificate will be provided upon request.
