Major Field of Study

Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course students should be able to:

- demonstrate understanding of the role of the image in the communication process and the importance of visualisation and images for technological development,
- use techniques of drawing in explorative image work as well as visualisation and problem-solving methods,
- use analogue and digital drawing techniques.

Content and Form of Instruction

The course includes theoretical and practical elements aimed to provide the students opportunity to develop skills in drawing and awareness of visualisation and its importance to technological development. The cornerstones of the course are image production, image perception and reflection on images and image work.

The components of the course are:

- using drawing to visualise ideas analogically and digitally
- survey of the content and form of image work and of the correspondence between analogue and digital drawing
- studies of body and space, model studies and croquis.

Reading List

See separate document.

Examination

Examination is in the form of the portfolio method whereby students collect their images and reports. The portfolio should include a set amount of mandatory tasks and it is orally presented at the end of the course.

Grades

One of the grades Fail (U) or Pass (G) is awarded in the examination of the course.

Quality Assurance

Follow-up relating to learning conditions and goal-fulfilment takes place both during and upon completion of the course in order to ensure continuous improvement. Course assessment is based on student views and experiences as reported in written course evaluations and/or group discussions. Students will be informed of the result of the evaluation and of the measures to be taken.

Course Certificate

A course certificate will be provided upon request.

Additional Information

Students who enrolled before 1 July 2007 will complete their studies in accordance with the requirements of the earlier admission. Upon completion students may request degree and course certificates to be issued under the current ordinance if they meet its requirements.

The local regulations for studies at the Bachelor's and Master's levels at Karlstad University stipulate the obligations and rights of students and staff.
