should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

While in general all students have been very happy, we can improve the information flow after the thesis starts. While this should be explained by the supervisor, some supervisors actually may not inform students about all the required steps and how the template should be updated.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

Oversee the template and hold additional seminar during half of the thesis to inform students about opposition, etc.

1. Number of first registrations for a course: First registration = the first time a student registers for a specific course.
