Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

In this course, the student(s) get involved in studying and doing independent work on (for them) new mathematical topics. Motivated students have a tendency to spend much time on topics they find interesting.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

Overall, the course format can be kept to next year.
