Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

Only two students have responded. Overall, they are satisfied with the course, the seminars, the course structure and the lectures. This year I put more time into talking about the individual paper and what autoethnography is during the first week and then continuously during the course, which the students appreciated.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

The last week was too stressful for the students. They need more time to work on the paper. The paper seminar should be placed earlier in the last week, so that they have a few days to rewrite the paper after the seminar.
