Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

The course had two registration codes since it is now part of the M.A. program as well as offered as a freestanding course. Only one student was registered on this code and that student has filled in the evaluation. The student is very happy with the course, and praises the teachers, the feedback and the learning environment in the free-text comments. The student has apparently not spent that much time on the course, though, but points out that all of the written assignments are not submitted yet.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

The student thinks that all of the components of the course should be kept as they are. No suggestions for changes.
