I'm pleased by the satisfaction the students report. Even though there are no written comments in this evaluation, verbal feedback indicated that DVAD34 is a reading-intensive module compared to the other modules of this course family. This may find consideration for the coming course instance.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

The next course instance may benefit from addition multimedial content and self-study case studies. Elements of group learning and interactivity may be added, depending on course budget.
