Respondents are grouped into Promoters, Passives, or Detractors based on their score, and the NPS is calculated by subtracting the percentage of Detractors from the percentage of Promoters. The NPS is a core metric for course evaluation programs and is trusted by educational institutions to engage their students and improve their learning experience performance.

Comments

Course supervisor's comments

Based on the students' feedback for the next session of the course, we will modify our teaching approaches and endeavour to adopt more of a PBL (Problem-Based Learning) approach, while providing the students with more feedback. Additionally, we will continue to complement the main course book with other scientific sources and use more practical and relatable examples of international business issues.
