Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

Only one answer received on this course evaluation, so it is not really possible to perform an analysis. An anonymous Zoom-poll was conducted in the last session of the course showing that students were generally happy with the course, possibly with some potential for improvement in some parts of the material.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

Since last course, the point reporting structure has been updated, so no large changes planned- Continous tweaks to the material.
