Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

Thirteen students (including the student registered under another code and a returning student) submitted one or more written assignments during the course. Five students achieved a grade (G or VG). Out of the three who have filled in this evaluation, two out of three appear to be very pleased with the course, judging from the bar charts, whereas one student is less happy with some aspects of it. According the free text comments, including film to illustrate certain theoretical notions works really well, and there is also a suggestion to explore science fiction through film adaptations, comparing the film to the novel (for example Annihilation).

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

None necessary.
