Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

This course really requires lots of attention from the students. It is not difficult per se, IF work and interest are invested from day 1. If the homework is not done timely, then it simply accumulates and it becomes very difficult to handle before the exam.

The performance of the students at the exam met my prior expectations. Better results are though possible, if more efforts from the students side are paid.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

If possible, I will try to keep next year as well as the last 3 weeks of the course without adding new content to facilitate the preparation for the exam. BUT, once more, the preparation for fundamental analysis must not be left for these last 3 weeks, as this is not sufficient time to understand matters and be proficient in handling the course content.
