Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

The response rate is very low, but those who answered the questionnaire were very positive about the course. The only aspect that could benefit from more thinking is the workload - it may be a bit too easy for students who have had some prior knowledge.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

A set of new assignments will be designed to help students plan and deliver speeches for different purposes while increasing the workload at the same time.
