Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

The students are satisfied with the supervising but less satisfied with the information around the course and the possibility to choose in advance the topic or the supervisor. Especially for the students who do not want to follow an academic career proposal of different topics, even proposals from industry would be welcome.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

Based on the suggestions of potential supervisors, the examiner should publish a list with topics for the thesis such that each student could have a broader choice. The collaboration with industry in this respect or the possibility to write on more applied topics will be exploited.
