Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

This was the last offering of the course with the original materials that the course was designed in 2019. Based on only a few (five students) feedback, the course seemed to be well presented and received.

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

Based on the feedback (1) the course materials/papers were updated, (2) the labs were updated, and (3) more regular online sessions is going to be planned.
