Analysis based on course evaluation, including comments fields. If information has been collected in other ways, it should also be analysed here. Any effect of joint courses should be commented on.

In general the students thought the workload was appropriate and the teachers were professional. One student was not satisfied with achieving the learning objectives or assessments. The students were slightly less satisfied than in previous years, perhaps this was a reflection of the return to campus teaching after the pandemic. The course book could be updated if possible. The seminar readings were opened earlier this year, reflecting student comments from last year. Paradoxically, one student this year wished that the seminar assignments were not open so early, because s/he found that stressful before the weekend!

Suggestions for changes to the next course date.

We will explore the possibility of replacing the course book.
