Summary of student evaluations based on the questionnaire, free text comments and any other data.

With such a small number of responses it is hard to draw substantial conclusions. This is perhaps a consequence of the disruption caused by covid and the loss of campus attendance. The responses we do have indicate that there is a satisfactory level of experience and fulfilment of expectations.

The programme coordinator's final analysis.

Under the circumstances and with a very low number of responses I am not able to draw very generalizable conclusions other than that the programme is fulfilling the expectations of the students who complete the programme.

Suggestions for improvements.

It is hoped that the shift back to campus teaching and with travel restrictions lifted the possibility to run more extensive field research we can expand on our international profile and improve the overall student experience.
